

Executive Director opening

CEAAC, the Citizens for the Educational Advancement of Alaska's Children, is seeking a full-time executive director. CEAAC is a coalition of Alaska school districts and educational and tribal organizations working together to improve struggling schools and opportunities for at-risk students, especially in rural Alaska. CEAAC has an annual budget of approximately $300,000 and 501(c) 3 non-profit status. To learn more about CEAAC, visit <http://www.ceaac.net>. A one-page summary of the organization's current activities is http://ceaac.net/what_is_ceaac.html

The Executive Director of CEAAC oversees staff, contractors and attorneys to fulfill the organization's mission, works with school district superintendents and other members, and manages membership, fundraising and business tasks. The ideal candidate must be self-directed, confident in diverse settings, and ready to extensively grow the organization through additional membership and fundraising. Currently, CEAAC does not provide office space to the Executive Director. The job description can be http://ceaac.net/documents/CEAAC_ED_job_description.pdf.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest and resume by 5pm on Monday, October 19, to director@ceaac.net or to CEAAC, P.O. Box 90791, Anchorage, AK 99517. This is a delivery deadline, not a postmark deadline. Questions can be addressed to Charles Wohlforth at director@ceaac.net or 907-242-2151 (cell)
